These steers were very good to handle in the yards and through the crush. Little to no rush when being drafted through the pound, moving from yard to yard & easily flowed through the race onto the scales. The slightly stirry steers were from being isolated or made stand too long on the platform. A lot of time has been put into the handling process of these cattle. Very good for their first time through the race.

Handled With Bikes , Dogs , Horses , On foot
