Assessor Comments	These 223 Demondrille-blood ewe hoggets present an outstanding opportunity for producers seeking quality replacement females. Ready to join and freshly shorn, they are a large-framed, well-grown line with the scale and capacity to develop into highly productive breeding ewes. Having recently cut an impressive fleece, they combine excellent wool performance with structural soundness and strong maternal genetics. Their combination of size, constitution and proven wool-growing ability makes them a highly attractive line for both wool and prime lamb enterprises.
