Have not had a lot of handling and they stirred up once in the yards, wanting to mob together. Not aggressive but certainly were flighty when put under pressure and were unsettled when singled out. Will improve with more handling & an experienced, competent stockperson with good facilities should have no issues handling them.

Assessor Comments	23 x Angus & Angus/Shorthorn Cross Steers that have been running on grazing oats. Only selling because they are locking up grazing crop paddocks and lambing ewes take first preference over the majority of the feed. Out of a cow herd that is half Angus & half Shorthorn the majority of these heifers are predominately black coated, 5 head display roan or part roan coats. One heifer was noted to have a small abscess/lump on the near side of the head/neck area, either a vaccination lump or a grass seed. Complete heifer drop offered with none retained. Please see comment on temperament.
