	Heifers were a bit flighty in the yards and going up the race at the beginning of assessment but the majority stood well on the scales and in race. Have not had a lot of handling of late with recent good seasons and negated need to supplementary feed. Considering it was their first time up the race and crush by themselves they were well behaved. Heifers settled down throughout the assessment process and will definately improve with handling.
Handled With	Bikes , Vehicles
Notable Traits	Traits 4 Head Blue Eyes, See Photos for worst eye 3 Head White Belly - None forward of the navel
Assessor Comments	Vendor bred from a closed herd these are the lead draft of the Millar's Heifer drop that were planned to be retained in the herd as future breeders. Vendor has adequate numbers of young cows so these heifers are marked for sale. The steer portion of the Millar cattle are well renowned from repeat buyers for their performance & breeding and these females will grow out to be productive, fertile future matrons. Please note that there are two heifers noted with a blue eye, see photos for the worst eye. Odd rubbing/ringworm around the head and rump, just starting to clean up in the coat coming out of a cold, wet, foggy winter. Heifers will improve with handling and will grow out into great future breeders.
