Assessor Comments	This a serious opportunity to capture quality genetics from a disciplined breeding program spanning generations. The Macreadie's have a long history in breeding Angus and never disappoint in turning out quality. This group of heifers is no exception! The heifers' present in ideal condition and show great weight for age very sound structure including hoof and claw shape, great length and abundant capacity. They will make great mothers and show the traits the Angus breed is famous for including exceptional maternal quality, high fertility, carcass quality, hardiness and adaptability to many climates. I can highly recommend these heifers which have been keenly sought by repeat buyers who know their ability to thrive and add value to their production system.
