Assessor Comments	A very good opportunity to purchase a line of preg tested Hazeldean blood heifers due to commence calving in August to specially selected low birthweight Hazeldean Angus sires. This line of females are bred from a medium to large framed cow herd and boast all the typical female Angus traits you would look for in a line of heifers. Very quite to move around the yards and stood very well in a large holding paddock for photos their good temperament is a feature. If your looking for a line of heifers to add to an existing herd these are the cattle, buy with confidence. Note two heifers showed pinkeye scarring see photo, some heifers showed small white markings on their udder.
