Assessor Comments	29 Angus steers that are only light but are young and have Rennyalea genetics in there background to ensure a bright future. Steers have been tight for feed (even though grazing irrigated pasture, small acres) since weaning so expect a big turnaround in a short period. A real feature is how quiet these steers are which makes them attractive to all players. Breeder runs a very natural system of no fertilizer, little animal health and limited hand feeding. Drenching on arrival would benefit these cattle immensely.
