	Steers were settled in bigger yard prior to assessment. Once steers started being worked through yards they became unsettled and would run as mob to corners of yards and could be hard to block at times. A lady was working in the back yards and force without drama. Once in race and crush a% steers settled, % were slightly unsettled and a % tended to push and jump around in crush becoming very unsettled. Not suitable for hobby farmer but experienced cattle people should have no trouble.
