|                               | Heifers were generally good to handle. Two heifers were agitated in the yard when being separated from there calves. Two heifers also became agitated in the crush but settled down quickly when returned to the mob. Heifers displayed normal protective behaviours when with their calves.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                             |                             |

| Assessor Comments             | A line of quality predominately Angus x Angus NSM heifers with their first calf at foot. Heifers present in forward store condition ready to be joined to the bull of your choice. Heifers are doing a great job on their calves which are sired by Brooksby and Clunie Range bulls. Calves have been marked and their health treatments are up to date. These heifers present an ideal opportunity to purchase quality young breeders with a long productive life in front of them. Take advantage of the improving season and buy with confidence. PLEASE NOTE: Vendor is happy to exclude the crossbred heifer from the sale upon request of the purchaser. 5 heifers observed to have some white on udder. 1 heifer observed to have some white on udder and brisket. 2 heifers observed to have old pinkeye scar in one eye (see media). Heifers have been recently deloused but show signs of rubbing (see media). |                             |                             |
