	Steers do have rush about them. Keeping in mind second time they've been handled. Would recommend experience stock persons handle these. Nothing showed aggression in yards but steers were easily agitated when little pressure was applied.

Notable Traits	Traits
	16 Head	Signs of late marking.
	3 Head	Warts (varying amounts)
Assessor Comments	Buyers here is a run of steers that will continue to grow out &b should not disappoint. These steers have not been handled a lot and would respond to being handled. They were only marked 7 weeks prior to assessment and majority do show the signs either being proud or thick around the head. 5 steers seen with swollen purse and are recovering well. They have had Ivermectin pour on applied week prior to assessment (42 day ESI) and should bound away. Vendors cattle in past have gone on and done a very good job in most enterprises. They will be priced right for your opportunity to pick up steers offering plenty of compensatory weight gain, if given the opportunity.
