These cattle are typically very quiet. The heifers were preg tested the day before assesment with the vendor & scanner commenting how quiet they were. At assessment the heifers were agitated from being put through the yards the day before. These cattle are normally very quiet & I believe their temperament on the day is not a true reflection of how they would be for the purchaser.

Assessor Comments	Here we have a very good line of N.S.M Angus heifers that are from one of the leading Millah Murrah blood herds in the Tablelands. This a great opportunity for someone to get leading genetics at an affordable price. With the weight and condition these heifers are carrying they are ready to take home and join to the bull of your choice. Highly recommended.
