	Steers were good to handle during the assessment. An odd steer was unsettled under pressure or in the weigh box but settled once returned to mob.
Handled With	Bikes , Dogs , Horses , On foot , Vehicles
Assessor Comments	A nice line of steers that are on a rising plain of nutrition, with all the hard work completed. Steers are really starting to do and should perform nicely for the next owner. An odd steer was noted with old pink eye scarring, one steer was noted to have small warts, and the odd steer had some ringworm. However not considered detrimental to their ability to perform. Please see photos and videos to satisfy your own breed description. Overall a nice line of steers.
