All heifers worked calmly through the back yards and force. Four heifers were unsettled and pushy on the scales and when caught to be mouthed. They had been separated from their calves to be weighed, and settled immediately once they were re united.

Assessor Comments

An attractive line of first calvers that are doing a good job on their calves at foot. Heifers were unintentionally joined making sire identification subjective. Four of the fifteen calves show slight scalding from scours, but have now fully recovered with hair regrown and showing no effects. Two of the heifers have slightly cloudy single eyes, not considered detrimental to their matronly duties. Considered to be of sufficient quality to retain as future breeders for most commercial operations, or alternatively as Recips or trade.
