|                        | Cows are pretty good to handle however they do want to crowd up in the corner when applying pressure and the odd cow becomes unsettled when isolated.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                          |                                     |
