	Very quiet cows a pleasure to work and draft in the yards, only complaint they made was during mouthing. Easily drafted without sticks and yahooing
Handled With	Bikes , On foot , Vehicles
Assessor Comments	These cows are in their working clothes, having raised calves and rejoined under prolonged dry conditions—a true testament to their resilience, fertility, and mothering ability. Their performance in a tough season only reinforces the strength of their genetic foundation. Backed by 20 years of focused Black Simmental breeding, these females are loaded with proven genetics and carry pregnancies to WS Proclamation sons. This mating promises a significant leap forward, combining elite calving ease, growth, and carcass traits, along with Proclamation's reputation for producing exceptional daughters. These cows are exceptionally quiet, handle well through the yards, and will respond quickly when given the feed they deserve. They are a smart investment in both immediate productivity and long-term herd improvement. Note: One cow has a minor hairline crack in a toe, but remains sound. Buy with confidence—these cows are built for performance and bred for the future.
