|                        | Heifers have been extensively worked since purchase. They are very good to work in the paddock. In the yards cattle will moved swiftly under pressure however work well with the correct pressure applied. Some will become unsettled when separated however calm quickly once back in the mob. As a whole the cattle work well.                                                             |     |                          |                             |

| Assessor Comments      | These line of red heifers pose a striking picture in the paddock, well bred stock that once calved out gives the producer a variety of options to go on with. Breeding bulls purchased from leading Central Queensland Studs (Yoman, Palmvale) ensure that carcass quality and bone are bred into these cattle.
