Temperament

Yards	Crush	Paddock
Quiet: 29 head Slightly Stirry: 4 head	Quiet: 28 head Slightly Stirry: 5 head	Temperament not assessed in Paddock

In general calves handle well in the yards due to inability of time they are not handled a lot and are run in larger mobs but we ran steers & heifers through the race twice and no doubt the more handling done the easier it was to work with the mob. Some calves showed a bit of run separated but once back in the mob they were unoticable.

Handled With	Bikes , Vehicles
Assessor Comments	A line Angus Heifers that are well and truly just about to start to hit their straps. An incredible harsh last 10-12 months this area has had. Due to this, we have probably seen the livestock struggle to do the minimum, therefore the operation have had to start feeding by containment with a crushed grain mix from Farmgate stockfeeds plus barley straw. There is probably a spread of 6 months of age over the line. Calves present in forward store condition and are starting to freshen up. There is the odd Heifer with a pink eye scarring or shadow, deemed not detrimental in my opinion.
