Healthy pink skins

Wool Comment

Some ewes showing signs of rubbing but Vendor has no history of lice. Ideally these ewes would be shorn and given a lice treatment for peace of mind. Odd ewe has been crutched to tidy up wet stain

Assessor Comments	A small line of Pooginook blood merino ewes with plenty of life left, an even age breakup ranging from hoggets to just full mouths. Originally classed in ewes that have all previously been SIL with any dry sheep culled at each scanning. These ewes have only had lambs weaned off them in the passed couple of weeks. Vendor has been on an 8 month joining cycle which has resulted in these ewes being excess to requirements. A great rebate on their backs these ewes will be realistically reserved and would suit going back to either a Merino or Terminal Sire.
