Assessor Comments Here is a chance to secure some top notch Angus steers before the end of year break. They are a very even line of cattle presenting in optimum body condition to perform for their future purchaser. The steers at assessment have been fortunate to have 135mm of November rain on their backs, this being said these cattle look as though the green feed is just starting to stick to them, leaving plenty of frame and room for very good weight gains for the successful purchaser. An opportunity to purchase the Rynne Family steers does not arise often as the family has had great success growing their steers out for Angus feeder programmes. Buyers all the hard work has been done with these cattle and they are the exact steer that you can buy knowing they will hit the ground running. The Rynne family go through extensive processes when selecting sires for their herd so bid with confidence knowing these are properly bred performance steers with an outstanding temperament.
