| Handled With           | All steers handled quite the rigorous drafting process with ease. They remained patient and moved well through the yards. A small handful stirred during weighing and mouthing, which was expected, but all settled quickly once returned to the mob.Bikes , Vehicles                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                           |                                     |

| Assessor Comments      | These steers present a great opportunity for buyers looking for cattle with all the hard work already done and ready to continue on. Bred out of harsh, cold country, they are a tough and resilient line of steers that have adapted well to challenging conditions. With the right feed and care, these steers have every chance to power ahead and perform strongly in any operation. Note vendor has 2 other lots of steers and 2 lots of heifers in same sale. |                                           |                                     |
