	Well handled and display a very quiet, docile nature in the paddock. They are easy-flowing cattle through the yards and are an easy to work with. On assessment day, the heifers were preg tested and weighed on two separate occasions, resulting in a longer and more stressful handling day than normal. This was reflected by a small number becoming slightly stirred in the crush; however, once through they settled. Overall, these are genuine, quiet heifers that are an absolute pleasure to handle.

Assessor Comments	Outstanding line of PTIC Angus heifers from renowned commercial King Island herd, Tasmania. carrying the highly regarded Landfall Angus bloodlines. These quality females present in excellent condition and have been joined to proven Killain Angus stud genetics, offering purchasers confidence in the quality of the resulting calves. Presenting in good calving condition, these heifers are due to commence calving from mid-August following a tight 8-week joining, ensuring a compact and even calf drop. They won't keep purchasers waiting, making them an ideal opportunity to secure quality females that will be productive immediately. Well handled throughout their lives. They are quiet, docile cattle in the paddock, flow freely through the yards and are a pleasure to handle. On assessment day they were pregnancy tested and weighed on two separate occasions, making for a longer and more demanding handling process than normal. As a result, a small number became slightly stirred while confined in the crush; however, they settled once released and displayed their typical quiet nature. As an added bonus, the successful purchaser will receive semen straws from the outstanding young sire Killain Worldwide V53, with semen from this exciting bull having sold a share to HW Netherton Angus program in Scotland. This presents an excellent opportunity to secure elite Landfall-bred females carrying proven Killain genetics, backed by outstanding temperament and future breeding potential.
