|                        | These heifers are exceptionally quiet and easy to handle. They walked straight onto the scale and stood calmly without any pressure, not even needing the sliding gate closed behind them. Their quiet temperament makes them ideal for handlers of any experience level.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                |                                     |

| Assessor Comments      | These heifers are exceptionally quiet, well-handled females that are a pleasure to work with. They have been joined to a low birth weight Fernhill Angus bull for a short 6 week joining. Heifers show strong potential for buyers seeking quality, well-bred females suited to a spring calving program. With the groundwork already done, they simply require appropriate nutrition and care through the final stages of pregnancy. Their calm, easy-going temperament makes them an excellent choice for anyone looking to expand or establish a line of reliable, high-quality future breeders. |                |                                     |
