	Heifers were relatively well mannered at assessment. When given opportunity to escape pressure through open gates they had a bit of run in them and would huddle to the corner of pens. When put up the race and in the crush for weighing they behaved well. Just cattle that are a little stubborn but nothing hard to handle for anyone with any sort of stock handling skills.

Assessor Comments	On offer is a nice quality line of 28 NSM Bongongo blood Angus heifers. Heifers are presenting very well with a kind season on their side and are in tip top order for joining this spring or would be well suited for feeding given their weight and growth. Vendor is always very astute when it comes to bull selection for their program, carefully selecting sire lines to benefit their herd from a fertility and performance perspective.
