	Calves handled well through the assessing process with vendor pushing 80% of calves on to the platform from the force yard. The odd calf spooked standing on the platform, but generally all of the calves handled with a degree of docility through the whole process.
Handled With	Bikes , Vehicles
Assessor Comments	An incredibly even line of Angus Heifers that considering there has been the tops taken out for keepers, they have weighed impressively well. Like the steers the cattle were a pleasure to handle with only one heifer moving quickly through the yards and assessment process, something this operation takes pride of is the temperament of their cattle. Heifers are just starting to blow their winter coat out and are starting to fill with two thirds of the spring left plenty of weight to be added or ample weight if you were to join and taken on as breeders.
