Extremely well-handled Angus steers, accustomed to bikes, dogs, horses and aircraft. Flow exceptionally well through the yards, with a handful pushing hard or becoming slightly stirry on exit, nothing detrimental. Settle quickly in the paddock and were very easy to photograph and video. Overall, a very well-educated and easily managed line of steers.

Handled With Aerial (Helicopters, gyro's and planes) , Bikes , Dogs , Horses , On foot , Vehicles

Notable Traits

| | Traits |
|---|---|
| 1 Head | Healing signs of Ringworm |
| 7 Head | Minor pinkeye scaring |
| 10 Head | Warts |
| 2 Head | White flank |

Assessor Comments An impressive line of forward-doing Angus steers displaying exceptional growth, depth and shape. 70% vendor bred, backed by renowned Te Mania Angus genetics, with the remaining 30% purchased through local saleyards at Inverell and Glen Innes. Well-handled, quiet cattle accustomed to all aspects of livestock handling. These steers present as an excellent opportunity to secure a quality line of cattle ideally suited to feeder operations, with plenty of weight and performance ahead of them. Animal Health: Buyers please note steers display minor, non-detrimental old pink eye scarring, with some cattle also showing warts and ringworm. Every effort has been made to exclude any steers displaying these conditions to a degree considered detrimental from the assessment. Overall, a very well-bred, growthy and structurally impressive line of Angus steers with excellent potential to develop into quality feeder cattle.
