Temperament not assessed in Paddock

Hard to fault young heifers despite not having been through the yards a great deal, they were all very easy & obliging. Brought from the boggy back yards by a single handler with the occasional help of a dog. All made their way up the race without fuss, stood sensibly on the scales and exited at a walk. Easy to push around the yards, and all exited in to the holding paddock at a walk, none showing any silly/nervous behaviour.

Assessor Comments

The Murra Angus family have been producing Angus cattle for 52 years this year, with the Murra brand Established in 1983. This line of young heifers are a very nice example of that brand, being long bodied, deep through the rib, and heavy skinned. Heifers that will continue to grow in to maternal style bodies and make a lovely line of future breeders if you wanted to go that way with them. Alternatively, the Murra Angus brand has a reputation for big weights and high yields, (Many cows tipping the scales over the 1 tonne mark!) meaning these girls would be a very rewarding investment if grown out to domestic or export weights! Very easy to handle, despite the trying weather conditions and boggy, hard going yards. Being sensible to handle throughout assessment, and walked quietly out of the yards in to the holding paddock for photos & videos. Buyers please Note - vendor has the brothers in the same sale, as well as a lot of PTIC young cows in the Eastern States Sale.
