|                        | Steers were good to handle and flowed well through the yards. The odd steer got a little unsettled in the crush but was fine once back in the mob.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                            |                                     |
