Paddock

Crush set up was very loud & rattley, which definitely didn't help the more anxious females in the yards leading up to the crush. or in the crush itself, some jumping around and wanting to get away (listed as slightly stirry, although can probably be forgiven considering circumstances) Prior to the weighing process starting, all females were sensible in the back yards, when drafting up in to bloodlines. They managed to settle themselves down a bit once in the big yard to take photos.

Assessor Comments

Small in numbers, but not lacking any quality. This is a nice line of long, deep, roomy females that will mature in to big solid matrons. Carrying the very good The Glen Angus Blood. Very thick set women that still have nice feminine features and pretty faces. Good width between their eyes and nice upright carriage. Females showing all desirable attributes you look for when selecting breeders. PTIC to Low Birth Weight Kiahglen Angus Bulls. These would be a perfect line of females to top up numbers, take on as part of a hobby farm/smaller scale operation or calve down and trade forward in a buoyant market. Please see photos & video for full contentment.
