Most were reasonably good to handle in the race/crush with only a small number considered slightly stirry.                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                         |                             |
