	3 of these heifers were easy to handle, and although they walked into the yards together easily enough, 1 heifer was always looking for an escape avenue. The heifer was not aggressive but was the sort of beast to walk the edge of the yard for the duration of the assessment.
Assessor Comments	A small mob of Speckle cross heifers with a good start on their first calves and ready to go back to the bull of the successful buyers choice. Two heifers were mouthed, one had 2 teeth up, and the other had just cut one tooth. A couple of the heifers are just starting to show the effects of the soft wet ground as many cattle are recently, with just slightly longer hooves.
