|                    | Cattle handled through yards well throughout the assessment process. Approx 5 % of animals became agitated when under severe pressure in crush and pound. Once finished with the assessment process steers settled quickly and were easy to handle whilst doing photos. These steers are worked with dogs, bikes & low stress stock handling techniques.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                     |                         |                         |      |                 |     |                 |  |       |     |           |     |       |      |     |     |        |     |      |     |  |  |     |     |       |     |      |     |  |  |  |  |  |  |       |     |  |  |  |  |              |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |   |     |  |  |  |  |  |  |   |     |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
