	Low stress handling is practiced on farm and these weaners behave accordingly. They moved through the assessment process calmly. A few steers ran a little once in the a larger holding yard where the photos were taken. Very good cattle to work with.
Handled With	Bikes , Dogs , Horses
Assessor Comments	32 light weight well bred Angus steers. These steers are vendor bred and have been yard weaned back in March. These steers are up to date with all their animal health treatments and have been since birth. Low stress stock handling is practiced on farm and the temperament of these steers is a feature. Steers are only being sold to make room for recently purchased cows. They are the perfect article to put out for the winter and spring.
