	Steers were generally very good to handle, they are typical of station cattle used to big areas that like to run through gateways and got slightly stirry when under pressure In the race. These steers should be no problems for most people with half decent facilities and half decent stockmanship, I would be more than happy to send to most of my clients, however if you want docile cattle these are not for you.

Assessor Comments	Anyone looking to acquire a large run of very good quality Angus steers need look no further than here. To say these steers are even is an understatement, there is 276 steers in the draft being offered as 3 even runs of 92 out the gate that all weigh between 340-390kg. These steers have plenty of frame and prospective purchaser should expect to get good compensatory weight gain from them. The Yammatee cattle are highly sort after by major feedlots throughout the industry and we have had very good feedback from previous purchasers. Observed 3 steers with a slight blue eye deemed not detrimental to the health of the animal and would pass into most feedlot tests I have done.
