| Handled With       | These are a very quiet draft of steers, well weaned. Vendor has been walking steers through the race and crush once a day through the weaning process, as a result they handled very well.Bikes , On foot , Vehicles                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Assessor Comments  | A very neat line of Bongongo blood steer weaners. Theses steers are the tops of the drop and showing great growth and confirmation for age. They are by quality Bongongo bulls selected by the stud principle. All the hard work has been done with these cattle, treatments are up to date, they are well weaned and well handled. Vendor has often taken steers out to feeder weights in the past but is opting to sell earlier to make room for more females. A real polished line of young steers that will meet a variety of markets given the right opportunity. Steers come highly recommended. |
