|              | Overall these cattle were generally well behaved however they could do with some more handling. They flowed quickly throughout the yards but calmed down once pressure was removed. They show no aggression but were nervous. |                                            |                                     |
