|                    | Fort Cooper at Nebo, are renowned for producing well handled and educated cattle, and these heifers are no exception. Heifers were mustered and given a couple hour break before weighing. Heifers were preg tested, weighed and assessed with some heifers fizzing up but majority worked very well                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                           |                                     |

| Assessor Comments  | An opportunity to purchase an exceptional line of well handled Santa x PTIC heifers. The heifers are all 1 brand and were purchased from Fort Cooper (Mitchellmore Family) at Nebo. The temperament on these heifers is second to none which will flow onto their progeny. All heifers are preg tested in calf to top quality Kandanga valley and Gutzke Droughtmaster bulls. These heifers would make the perfect line to join any breeding herd or for someone looking for some quiet breeders. The heifers are off light forest country and have struggled slightly over the past couple months due to the excessive rainfall which can be seen by the condition of the cattle in the picture - showing that these heifers will storm ahead heading into the hotter months Please note these heifers are in tick country and it is the buyers responsibility to clear these heifers |                                           |                                     |
