Temperament

Yards	Crush	Paddock
Quiet: 19 head	Quiet: 19 head	Temperament not assessed in Paddock

Bucket reared as calves and consequently very quiet. Could have easily classed temperament as "docile". Had to weigh one at a time in a dairy yard not designed for Beef cattle however we managed ok due to the quietness of the cattle.

Handled With	Bikes , On foot , Vehicles
Assessor Comments	Vendor bred F1 Black Baldy Cows (majority are actually Heifers) with big calves at foot and running back with Angus Bulls for Autumn calving. (Bulls were removed on day of Assessment - not preg tested.) Well grown females that were bred on the property at Loch and were very good to handle. Note there are 12 Steer calves and 7 Heifers with 6 Baldy calves in total, which will provide a fair rebate on the initial outlay in a few months time. Do your sums - quite possible that the Purchaser will be looking at a young, Autumn calving Cow in the New Year owing maybe $1200 - 1400 which must be considered a good trading proposition. One Cow observed with mild photo sensitisation on face and ears.
